ATR VERDICT: Charles Hills took the first ever running of this contest with Muhaarar in 2015 and looks to have the chance to become the first dual winner of this Group 1 event with his Prince Khalid Abdullah speedball EQUILATERAL, who relished encountering fast ground for the first time when routing the opposition by eight lengths at Doncaster. Leading Australian jockey James McDonald is in the saddle for what looks a huge step up in class, but the form of that Doncaster run has been franked by the runner-up subsequently winning twice and the son of Equiano appears a top level winner in waiting. Sioux Nation and Heartache were both winners at the Royal meeting last season and have to be respected, with the former looking strong at the distance when taking a Naas Group 3 last time. Sands Of Mali is unbeaten at three having scored in both a Chantilly Group 3 and the Group 2 Sandy Lane Stakes this term, and it would be no surprise to see him confirm Haydock form over Invincible Army and Emblazoned. Main Desire returned from 363 days off to get the better of Hey Jonesy and Roussel in the Westow Stakes at York and Michael Bell's filly could run well at bigger odds, providing the dreaded bounce factor doesn't rear its head.

Top Tip: EQUILATERAL (6)

Watch out for: SIOUX NATION (15)
