ATR VERDICT: Almoghared is the most interesting player in the line-up, switched to handicap company after finishing fourth behind subsequent Group 1 winner Kew Gardens in the Queen's Vase at Royal Ascot, but Willie Mullins' STRATUM gets the nod. This high-class dual purpose performer arrives on the back of a career-best performance in the Ascot Stakes, where he ran a blinder to finish third despite being caught wide throughout. Dropping back from 2m4f shouldn't be a problem and the first-time hood could eke out further improvement, so a big run looks on the cards. Coeur de Lion, sixth in the Ascot Stakes, and Quloob, who wears first-time cheekpieces, are others to note.

Top Tip: STRATUM (10)
