ATR VERDICT: HAADHIR has a very solid record on the all-weather and proved he acts on turf when third at Redcar last time. Ivan Furtado's colt looks capable of landing these spoils, especially as he receives 2lb from Dancing Rave, who scored on her debut here but is without a win in three starts since. Magical Spirit showed improvement on his debut to finish third here last time, but will have to progress again to land the spoils.

ATR VERDICT: SAMEEM went close over this track and trip two starts ago and looked capable of picking up a pot such as this one when second at Thirsk last time. He is taken to have the measure of Four Mile Bridge, who defied odds of 100-1 to finish third at Newmarket last time. Fenjal was a respectable fifth on debut at Ffos Las and could improve, while newcomer War Chariot is worth a second glance for Mark Johnston.

ATR VERDICT: Archie has been running well in recent weeks but the suspicion remains that he saves his very best for Brighton, while Zeshov's Musselburgh form is much stronger than recent runs away from the Scottish venue. Desert Dream won at Carlisle last time so should have no issue with the uphill finish here, but preference is for EQUIANO SPRINGS, who left a number of poor efforts behind when third over track and trip last time and is 1lb lower here.

ATR VERDICT: PERFECT PASTURE is well clear of the rest on official figures having won a Listed contest at Doncaster early in the season. He missed the majority of the summer after that March win but showed signs he was coming back to form when sixth in the Ayr Gold Cup on Saturday. Savalas has struggled the last twice but has strong claims on his earlier form, while Orvar and Merhoob have a fair bit to find with the selection on official figures but do have recent wins to their names.

ATR VERDICT: The hat-trick could be on for ARCHIE PERKINS, who struck off a mark of 61 over this trip last month and followed up over 1m2f here 10 days later. He is now rated 70, which will make life tougher, but he is evidently in the form of his life at this track. Ideal Candy continues to hold her form well and looks a danger, as does recent Pontefract winner Detachment.

ATR VERDICT: STRINGYBARK CREEK was a good winner on Saturday at Catterick, continuing his excellent form since joining David Loughnane, and he can defy a penalty to make it four wins out of his last seven outings. Thornaby Nash won his latest start at Carlisle on heavy ground and will have similar conditions off a 3lb higher mark, while April Rising makes some appeal off an opening rating of 58 having shown some promise at Carlisle last time.

ATR VERDICT: ATHARY, a half-sister to 2000 Guineas and Derby winner Camelot, found herself outpaced at crucial stage on her debut at Windsor last month but with softer ground coming to her aid here, she may well be able to build on that opening outing to prove to be the one to beat. A step up in trip can help Thawry go close, while Mark Johnston's New Approach newcomer, Charles Kingsley, is worthy of a market check at a track the handler often has success at.

ATR VERDICT: WARRIOR'S SPIRIT drew clear at the finish to see off his rivals in a similar event at Carlisle earlier this month and, if proving just as effective up in trip, he could make light work of a 5lb rise here. Broughtons Story was a beaten favourite at Chelmsford last time but has been given a chance by the handicapper to make amends here, while Whatwouldyouknow appears the pick of the Richard Guest trio on his C&D success two starts ago.
