| TIMEFORM VIEW: BERCASA has done most of her racing on quicker ground, but she handled testing conditions with aplomb when fourth in a C&D handicap on penultimate start. The Casamento filly is taken to open her account, perhaps at the chief expense of Escallonia, who shaped much better than the bare result at Cork recently. Too Precious is open to improvement now handicapping and is also one for the shortlist. |                                                                                   |        |                                                             |          |                       |    |
