ATR VERDICT: Three-time Flat winner WILLIAM HUNTER has yet to put his best foot forward over hurdles, but good ground and modest opposition give him a chance to get off the mark, with a spring wind operation also potentially helpful in this sphere. Rebel Commander was somewhat disappointing when in the care of Nicky Henderson but is interesting on his first start for Jack Barber following wind surgery, while Normal Norman returned to hurdles in respectable fashion at Huntingdon earlier this month and is worthy of a place on the shortlist.

Top Tip: WILLIAM HUNTER (7)

Watch out for: REBEL COMMANDER (6)
