| TIMEFORM VIEW: DANDOLO DU GITE was above average in bumpers and only found another promising sort too good in a novice at Towcester on hurdling debut, so this looks like an excellent opportunity. Keel Over should benefit from the longer trip and strikes as the main danger ahead of Comeonthebull. |                                                                                   |       |                                                                      |          |                                    |                 |
