ATR VERDICT: Despite coming out second best on her chasing debut, there was a lot to like about MOLLY CHILDERS' performance and she drew well clear of the rest of the field at Bangor that day. Stuart Edmunds' six-year-old is now tried in a tongue-tie, which should help at the business end of proceedings, and it will be no surprise if she comes out on top here. Jet Set was a useful hurdler last season and is entitled to be on the premises if transferring the best of her form over timber to her new discipline, while Dinos Benefit claimed a notable scalp over timber in the spring and is well worth another try at this distance despite disappointing last time.

Top Tip: MOLLY CHILDERS (6)
