ATR VERDICT: ACEY MILAN was arguably England's leading bumper horse last season having continually improved from his debut effort when beaten by Volcano, who reopposes, at Exeter last October. A winner of two Listed bumpers, including at Newbury when beating some exciting individuals, he was sent off favourite for the Champion Bumper at Cheltenham, where he ran well to finish fourth behind Relegate, and this step up in trip looks in his favour. It is notable connections persist with Pride Of Lecale having been off the track for 947 days as he showed a fair amount of promise in bumpers. Others to consider include Volcano, third behind Pym at Chepstow and now wears a first-time hood, Lisnagar Oscar, who showed up well in a good bumper at the same track, and Court Master, who is from the family of 2004 Grand National winner Amberleigh House.

Top Tip: ACEY MILAN (1)
